CHICOPEE COMPREHENSIVE

SHUF CHE

To Douglas Gray, vocational director, who "builds" rainbows each school day --- by understanding student needs, by talking with students on a one-to-one basis, by striving to know each of the vocational students by name, by visiting the shops often. Though he becomes quite busy with administrative duties, he is never too occupied that he may lose touch with the students. He is an educator of concern, understanding, and pride.

ENTERING Comprehensive, one is entering the future. Well-equipped in various preoccupational training, Comp shapes lives and destinies each day. For those students interested in attending college, Advanced Placement courses in such subjects as English and Chemistry are excellent preparatory sessions. The design to choose schedules fairly independently by expanding on guidelines may be one of the greatest assets of the school, allowing individuals to perhaps uncover what they want to pursue in life.

The vocational section is, of course, a unique opportunity to acquire valuable techniques for job placement after high school. Permitting all students to partake in business classes, Comp provides the basis to learn useful skills in typing, bookkeeping, office machines, and shorthand. Telecommunications supplies photography background; independent studies allow students to participate in in-depth subject concentration and range. Work-study programs, music, computer math, art and home-economics — all present paramount chances to improve or discover abilities, occupational or general. The educational focus of Comprehensive is its strongest link to the future.

Extra-Curricular activities also may set precedents for further study, hobbies, or even possible careers. Office aides may continue their work beyond secondary school; library aides may become professional librarians. Hobbies in photography, drama, or astronomy may continue and develop. The debate team, newspaper, and student council are educational experiences, providing insight and awareness. Athletics also play an important role in understanding teamwork and cooperation. After-school organizations build knowledge of leadership, diligence, and perseverance.

The faculty at Comprehensive is a fine one, molding futures in every class. Teachers, counselors, administrators, and personnel are adept in listening, understanding, sympathizing, and of course, instructing. One's best friend can be a counselor.

Chicopee Comprehensive builds rainbows. Unforgettable occasions, happy times,

solemn times,

moments with friends,

moments of intense concentration, building rainbows with pride, with power, with integrity, and above all, with knowledge, striving,

climbing,

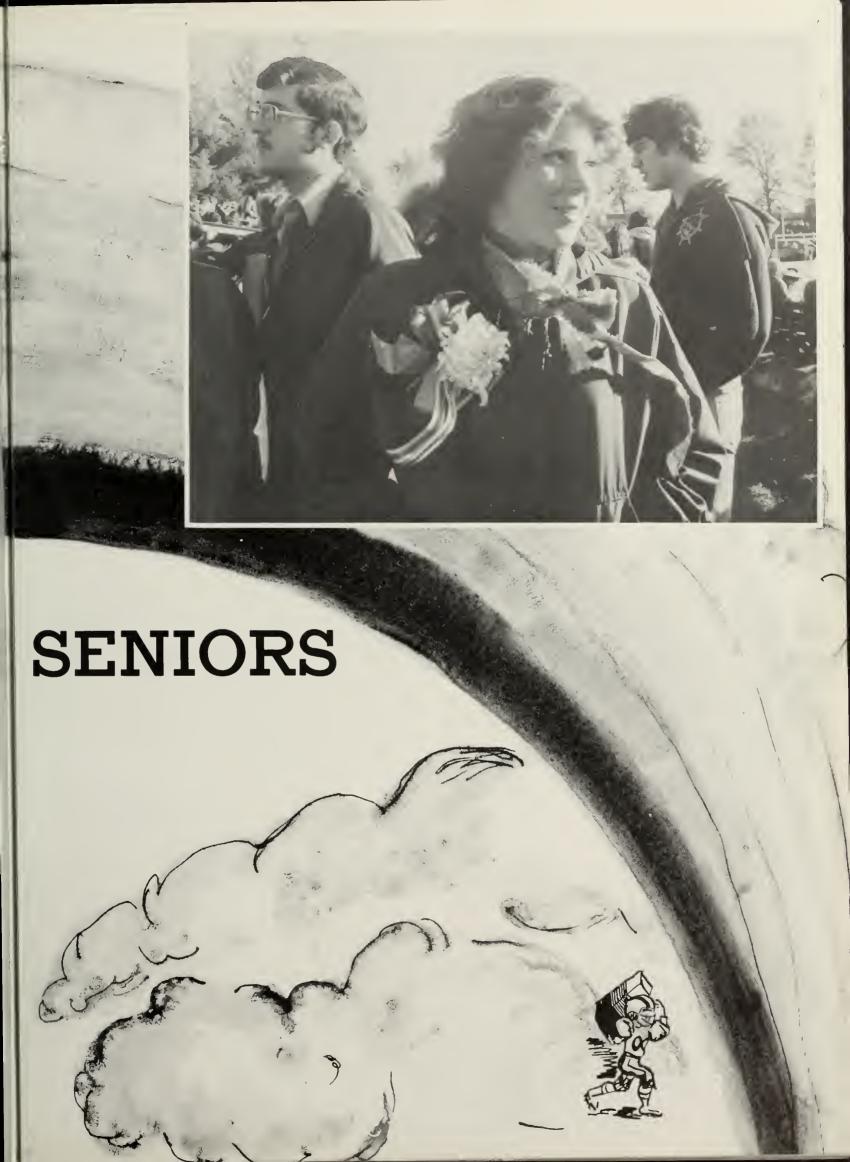

and yes, losing, too sometimes all help to build your tomorrow. Comprehensive High School has begun your rainbow. As you leave school for the final time, you hold your future in the palm of your hand, to build your rainbow to its fullest, brighest arch.

"Rainbows are memories Sweet dream reminders. What is it you'd like to do?"

Contemporary Problems

This course is popular with today's seniors. Through Newsweek magazine the students are given great insight into such problems as Khomeni and the Iran situation, the murder of John Lennon, and the budget cuts by the government.

prerequisite: an inventive mind to think of exciting things to do with old

Family Living

The students experience marriage and parenthood by preparing a mock ceremony, planning a household budget, and becoming the proud parents of a hard-boiled prerequisite: a hard-boiled egg and the telephone number of a competent egg-sitter.

Sports Lit.

This is an ideal class for the avid sports fanatic! Students in this course increase their knowledge of sports by studying Sports Illustrated magazine. Discussions concern such topics as the competitors in the Super Bowl, the Red-Sox/Yankee rivalry, and Boston's outrageous trades.

Study

If a senior doesn't have a psychology research paper or a Library or Pro merito pass, he/she can use this time to discover what is happening on "General Hospital", discuss homework assignments, or catch up on the latest gossip.

Media Comm.

This course is designed to teach students that there is more to the newspaper than "Dear Abby", horoscopes, and the comics. Also covered are the effective viewing of television and the F.C.C. regulations.

prerequisite: a newspaper and the desire to read it

PsychologyThis course studies behavior through a seemingly endless amount of research papers and analyses of people and dreams. One very valuable topic is the method of personal analysis and understanding.

Phys. Ed.

This is a course required of all students at Comp, although seniors are given a selection between gym and family living. Gym is chosen by those students who'd rather not parent an egg.

prerequisite: To fully enjoy this course, students should desire a change from the regular classroom situation.

Advanced Placement English and Chemistry, Physics and Calculus:

These courses are designed to give seniors a taste of college academics, and are sometimes regarded as "senior suicide". These students are easily recognizable by signs of "brain drain", writer's cramp, and armfuls of books.

prerequisite: a good thesaurus and calculator with trig functions

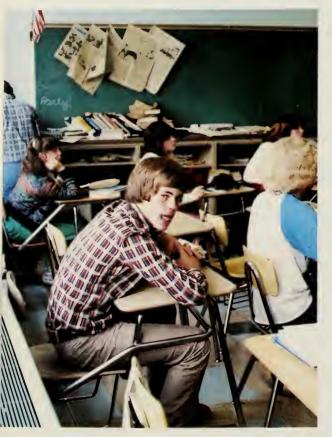

Do you know where your children are?

Is my part straight?

Say Ahhh!

Are you kidding?

Aren't we cute?

A quarter for your thoughts. (Inflation)

Like this

Stop the presses!!!

Do You Remember ?

Do you remember Senior Year?

Do you remember the countless number of forms we filled out?

We filled out enrollment forms, federal survey forms, Forms for the yearbook, and forms to ride the bus. We filled out legal name forms so we could graduate, SAT and Achievement forms,

And scholarship and application forms. Senior Year was a year of paperwork.

Do you remember the way we dressed?
We wore Izod alligator shirts, designer jeans, Cheenos, and monogrammed sweaters.
We wore Rod Laver shirts.

We had perms and precision hair cuts. Senior Year we were "preppy."

Do you remember how television affected our lives?
We rushed home everyday after school to see what Dorian
Lord was up to, what was happening in the lives of Luke and Laura, and the developments of the Ann, Jeff, and Heather, and Monica, Rick, and Leslie triangles.

Because of the actors' strike we had to wait six months to find out who shot J. R. Ewing.

Senior Year we watched the season's new shows in November.

Do you remember the things we could count on? We set our watches by the 1:45 announcement for all cars parked in the front of the building to be moved.

We could always count on crowded intersections after every bell,

And long lunch lines.

Every morning we were ushered out of the halls into homeoom at 7:40.

Every day someone asked us for Senior pictures.

Texas Instrument calculators frequented the science and math rooms.

The day after a concert those who attended said so with the concert's T-shirt.

What we could count on most was lunch: we had beef and bacon burgers, pizza, and hot dogs once a week.
Senior Year was somewhat dependable.

Do you remember the election?

We went from peanuts to popcorn when the Presidency changed from Carter to Reagan.

We voted for "Proposition 2½," a new Superintendent of Schools.

Senior Year was a beginning politically.

Do you remember our booth at the Kielbasa Festival?
Do you remember our brand new football field that we barely used?

Do you remember the return of the Pro Merito room after a year's absence?

Do you remember all the fun we had? We ate at Burger King and HuKe Lau.

We had egg fights at Aldenville.

We went to the movies and wondered if Darth Vader was really Luke Skywalker's father.

We stayed home and watched movies on HBO.

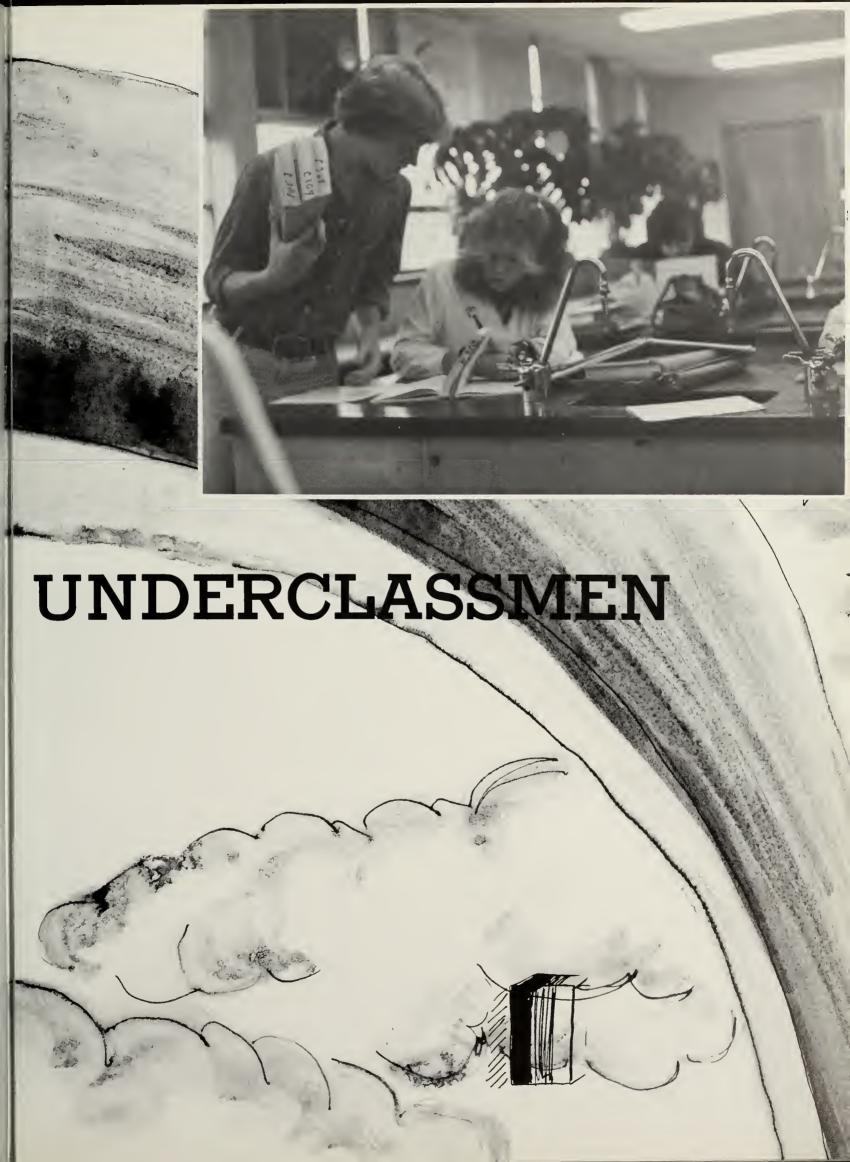

We had Senior hat days and rallies.

We even played "musical homerooms" which enabled us to be in a different homeroom everyday.

Senior Year we worked. We played. We laughed. We cried. Senior Year we traded a familiar way of life for a new, unfamiliar one.

Senior Year was our last reprieve from the real world. Senior Year WAS WONDERFUL!!!!

-Jackie Baulding

JUNIORS

Only one year left with three years gone; We have many fond memories to carry on. Good times and bad times with friends have passed With the coming and going of our class.

Our Candy Sale and Magazine Drive became a success, Because our class believed we were the best. We started a tradition of carnations on St. Patrick's Day. This custom will stay with us all the way.

The Junior Prom and the Christmas Cotillion highlighted the year Providing more memories which we hold dear. Our school spirit was beaming like a hero When we won Powder Puff football 16-0.

While in Comp, we have realized that hard work and determination Would help us gain knowledge needed for a good education. Time and time again, we have had disappointments, Only to find they were steps toward accomplishments.

As decisions for our future round near, We continue to pretend that we have no fear. Comp has given us a step in the right direction. So the rest of our steps should be made toward perfection.

SOPHOMORES

Since two years have passed, we are halfway through Accomplishing some of what we must do. The Candy Sale is now complete; We sophomores sit in a different seat.

We realize now what Comp's all about. We work hard, with confidence, not with doubt, With help from advisors whom we consult. Success, with school spirit, is our basic result.

Receiving class rings, we gained a sense of pride, A sense of honor and dignity we just cannot hide. The beginning years are now in our past; The best in the future is our forecast.

Vocational

Vocational Education trains students in a given trade so that they can be gainfully employed when they complete 1500 hours (or three years) in the vocational department. The trades include auto body, auto repair, welding, machine shop, machine drafting, electronics, electrical, small engine, cabinet, and power stitching. Students have academic classes for one half the day, then report to their shops for the remaining four periods. The program involves over four hundred fifty students from all of Chicago.

The Vocational Cooperative Education provides qualified senior vocational students with an opportunity to leave school at the end of their academic classes and report to a "cooperative employer" for paid on-the-job training. Students who have completed two years of instruction in their trades can be reccommended for this privilege. This program is the goal for every vocational student. Just as the objective of a college preparatory students is a college degree, the final goal of a vocational student is employment in his/her chosen vocational field.

As Mr. Howard Walker will be retiring after the 1981 year, special congratulations are in order for his many years of vocational training.

Distributive Education

The Distributive Education course involves seniors who choose either to study retailing in college or to go directly into the business world. In classes and in the actual operation of the school store, the students learn how to run a retail business. The skills include markup, buying, marketing, and picking out materials at low cost. DECA students gain practical knowledge and experience which ensures placement in jobs after high school.

Telecommunications

The telecommunications program is designed to provide educational and practical experience for students who select either creative arts (including graphic arts or photography) or television broadcasting/electronics as his/her occupation or hobby. Since there are many facets of communications such as engineering, production, and advertising, the program incorporates students from all courses of study. Over sixty juniors and seniors from both Comp and Chicopee High travel to Westover Air Force Base for two periods a day. This year, Telecom has increased programming for Chicopee Cable Channel 5 to include Chicopee Board of Aldermen Meetings as well as School Committee meetings and more basketball and football games. The fact that the number of applicants exceeds the number that can be accepted proves that the telecommunications program is a great uccess.

Nursery School

The nursery school is a fairly new program, prepared and operated by the childcare classes at Comprehensive. The three- week session, attended by over fifteen preschoolers, includes "circle time," learning centers, creative arts, and large motor skill activities, along with a nutritious snack and free play time. The high school students learn by observation and by instructing. The goal of the childcare course and the nursery school program is to introduce students to a vocation in effective parenting or professional childcare work. The program not only proves to be a valuable community service, but also provides an exciting and fun learning experience.

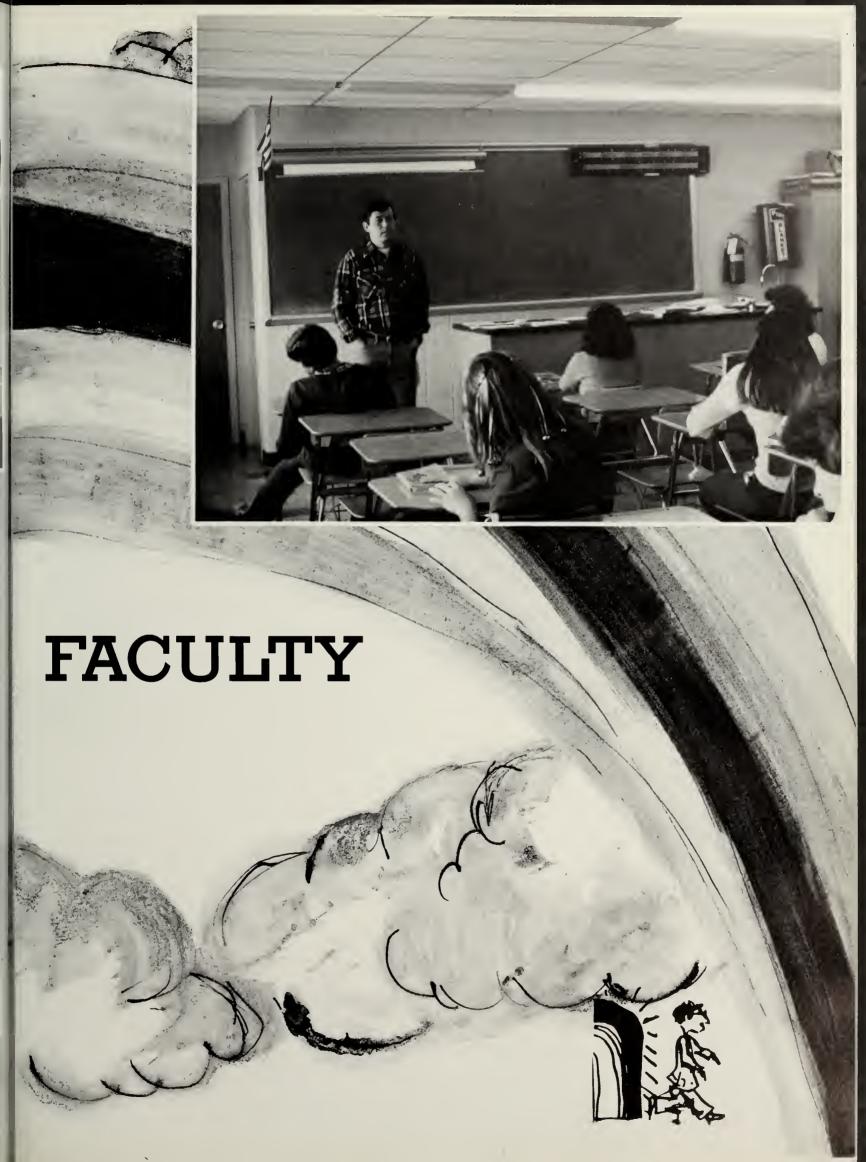

Special thanks to Mr. Gray, Mr. McClelland, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Burch, Mr. Cutter, and Mr. Dumont.

To the graduating class of 1981:

The words most commonly used when addressing graduates are "success" and "happiness". Each of us has, some to a larger and others to a smaller degree, some control over our success and happiness. One must start with setting of values. All of you have done this: your decision to graduate from high school indicates that you have established education and job training as a value.

As you enter the adult world you begin to set priorities as to what your accomplishments should be in the immediate future. These priorities will change and will be eliminated, strengthened or weakened as time goes on. You will discover that competition is the backbone of our economic and social structure. Competition is very healthy. However, competition is healthiest when it centers on competing with one's own self.

If your job skills are improving each year, if your golf score is lower each year, if your interests are deepening and expanding each year, if your human relations are more rewarding each year, if your civic responsibilities are increasing each year, etc., you are successfully competing.

I should like to point out that life is full of disappointments and they should be considered as learning situations from which new hope and endeavors should be launched.

In closing I urge you to discard the social philosophy of the past twenty years which is based on the tenet that individuals are not responsible for their misdeed or indiscretions but that we are victims of society. YOU ARE SOCIETY!

WILLIAM COSCORE, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Administration

Mitchell S. Kuzdal Principal

To the class of 1981:

The foundation of your future has been expanded and strengthened in the past four school years.

Your future will be predicated on how you will be willing to challenge the unknown that will confront you in the futuristic era-the computer age. You must be willing to probe the mystic and the unknown through your constant effort to improve either in the academia or the vocational schools.

Accept the fact that material abundance without character is the surest way to death. Learn to cope with the many societal malignancies that endeavor to pinch us to stagnation, hatred and suffocation.

Learn to appreciate the beauty and the many virtues that life extols upon us, by extending our heartfelt feeling to all of society.

May each and every one of you grow in stature to provide us with a world of sincerity, truth, love, admiration, and, with respect, to accept one another as a real, humane person.

Senior Booth

The Kielbasa Festival is a annual event that is celebrated for one weekend in autumn. This year the festival was held on September 5th, 6th, and 7th behind the Fairfield Mall. The seniors at Comp planned to get themselves involved. The homeroom representatives met with advisors Roger Bowden and Neil Martell to discuss plans for building a booth. Because school began on the third of September, the festival provided all seniors with the opportunity to get involved and renew school spirit for the 1980-81 year. Administration and students working together, the booth was completed on time for the festival and was a uccessful senior activity.

Homecoming weekend this year was unique in that it occured simultaneously with Veteran's Day. In honor of these circumstances
Comprehensive honored
Veteran's Day with ceremonies at its annual Exchange Rally on November
7. Representatives of the armed forces were very special invited guests. Events included patriotic strains of the armed forces theme songs, played by the marching band, speeches, and of course, the Pledge and National Anthem.

The Spaghetti Supper was held after the Comp/Chicopee game. With the help of the students and faculty involved, the supper was a great success. Although the Colts were unable to defeat the Pacers, the spirit of the fans and team remained high through out the afternoon. Football awards were given at the supper to honor the most valuable players.

Powder Puff

Powder Puff football is a football game played between Comp's Junior and Senior girls. The game was played at Szot park this year. Unfortunately, the Junior girls defeated the Senior girls in this year's game. Regardless of the outcome, everyone involved had a good time.

Toys For Tots

Comp has always contributed as much as they could to the Toys for Tots Drive; this year was no exception. In addition to collecting toys in other schools as well as our own, Comp students sponsored various fund raisers. One of these was a breakfast and the other a dance.

Christmas Rally

The Christmas Assembly was not only held to celebrate the Christmas holiday, but to celebrate the success of the Toys for Tots and Canned Food Drive.

The Comprehensive High School Band and Chorus provided the music and songs for the event.

Cotillion

On saturday, January third, Comp held its yearly cotillion at Sheraton West, West Springfield. Entitled "Winter Dreams", the cotillion provided an occasion to continue the holiday spirit even past New Year's Day and before the return to school after Christmas recess. The event was held from six-thirty to midnight, dinner served at seven o'clock, and music was by "Inner Lite". Because underclassmen were also invited to attend, as was procedure last year, too, the cotillion was a terrific occasion for everyone in Comprehensive to come together and enjoy themselves.

The student council of Chicopee Comprehensive High School is the most active group in the school. One of the main goals of the council is to raise scholarship money for the senior members of student council, but the members are not only interested in raising funds for their own group, but are always willing to assist other organizations in any situation. In addition to sponsering many dances, they arrange a portion of the homecoming weekend events, assist in the "Toys for Tots" and "Canned Food Drive", and organize the blood drive.

The Chicopee Comprehensive High School debate team, which was well balanced with both veteran and rookie members in 1981, finished with a seven and seven record, and tied for fourth in the Connecticut Valley Debate League. The debate season is considered extremely successful, educational, and satisfying by team members and team advisor Robert Merkel. The team attended the Forty-First Annual Model Congress on the campus of American International College in January, but failed to pass any legislation, mainly due to inexperience in legislative procedure. Attendance at the Congress, however, was considered one of great value by all team members. Prospects for 1982 look even brighter as five underclassmen will be returning to the team. Graduating from the team are; Coleen Nauman, MaryAnn Rubis, and Tom Demers.

The "As Schools Match Wits" team consists of a group of students trying for positions on the four-person television team. Participation is determined by performance in mock matches with Chicopee High's similar unit. Preparation also consists of individual study and practice. Advisor is Mr. Jendrysik.

Journalism Club

The students in the journalism club are responsible for the publication of the school newspaper, the Comp Chronicle.

The Chronicle staff prints ten issues per school year in which stories written by journalism students are featured. The staff, which meets fourth period daily, is responsible for writing, editing, lay-outs, traveling to and from the printers', and soliciting patrons' ads. The journalism club is under the guidance of Mr. Walter Stachura.

What Is Pro Merito?

This year's Pro Merito Club, also known as the Varsity Academic Team, consists of forty-five students. Throughout the first three years of high school Pro Merito members have maintained an 89.5 average or better. Most of the students on Pro Merito not only have a difficult scholastic schedule, but also hold jobs, are class officers, and participate in atheletics and other clubs. The club's goals include having a dinner dance to honor parents and purchasing textbooks for an isolated group of uneducated Canadian Indians.

Through this door into another dimension of time, the Pro Merito room

May we help you?

Tune in next week ...

I have hayfever.

Homeroom Representatives

What Is A Homeroom Representative?

A homeroom representative is a student who is elected by the others in his/her homeroom. He/She performs a wide range of duties. Some of these duties include collecting money from the other members of the homeroom for class fundraisers, keeping sales records, and representing homerooms at all meetings.

SENIORS- The homeroom reps of the class of 1981 are a group of the most active students in the school. This group of dedicated students is truly the heart and spirit of the class. Their unselfishness and devotion has made the class of '81 a very successful and economically stable class. Congratulations, senior homeroom representatives; be proud because you have done a great job!

Kim Garvin and Keith Roy for a perfect advertising campaign. They and their devoted staff began last March to collect sufficient funds to produce Memini '81.

Michelle Boivin and Diana Monahan for heading a successful subscriptions team. Michelle also was the main contributer to the captions in our Sports section.

Stu Ritter and Brian Wright, along with their staff, for taking great photographs and at times, doing the impossible

Jackie Baulding, Cheryl Geoffrion, and Sue Nadeau our creative Senior section tri-editors who joined together successfully Underclassmen editor Laurie Hambley for fine layouts. She was helped by Renee Parent, who wrote the "class noems"

Michelle Geoffrion and Ross Viens for super artwork such as our cover, division pages, progressive page corners, faculty department symbols, and sports "blob" characters

Cindy Ringenbach for her interest and organization in preparing the Faculty section layouts

Coleen Nauman and Kim Collins for their diligence with our Sports section

Our yearbook secretary, Lori St. Germain, for creating an advertising file system, for writing and copying lists of prospective advertisers, for assisting with some of the typing of copy, and for typing all forms and letters we needed during the course of the year.

Sue Nadeau, who volunteered to accept another position as Specialized Academics editor after the senior section was completed and did a terrific job

Sue Tetreault for her excellent, well-organized Activities section

And to everyone else who helped to make Memini '81 a reality. Thank you!
